

Collocation

Wield influence:

(The power to effect others)

- Social media starts wield influence over young audiences.
- the wield influence in Artificial intelligence .
- He wield influence because of him experience.
- Parents wields influence in their children's career choices.

Grossly Exaggerated claims:

(To show something so over-the-top that it's clearly not true)

- politicians often make grossly exaggerated claims during campaigns.
- His story about fighting a tiger was a grossly exaggerated claim.
- The beauty products makes grossly exaggerated claim in advertisement.
- The company got in trouble for grossly exaggerated claims in its marketing campaigns.

Highly unlikely outcome:

(A result, almost impossible to believe)

- They tried hard, but beating the world champion was still highly unlikely outcome.
- Expecting perfect results without efforts is highly unlikely outcome.

Bitterly Disappointed:

(Deeply sad, heartbroken)

- he was bitterly disappointed when his dream job slipped away.

- The team felt bitterly disappointed after losing in the last minute.

Overly simplistic view

(Explaining something in easy way)

- He had an overly simplistic view how relationships work.
- it's an overly simplistic view to think success happened overnight.

Make a breakthrough

To make a big discovery or achieve something important —— Often use in science, business, or personal use.

- After months of research, the doctors finally made a breakthrough in cancer treatment.
- She made a breakthrough in her confidence after joining a public speaking class.

Strike a balance

To find a fair middle point between two difference things

- she tried to strike a balance between saving money and enjoying life.
- As a parent, you have to strike a balance between being strict and being kind.
- The company is trying to strike a balance between profit and sustainability.
- Good leaders know how to strike a balance between authority and compassion.

Avert a crisis to turn away, avoid, to prevent something bad happening——to prevent some serious problem from happening

- The firefighter acted quickly and avert a crisis.

- If we do not take actions on climate change, we would not be able to avert a global crisis.

Gain insight

To develop a deeper understanding ——— to discover something new that you did not know before

- after listening carefully, she gain insight into her friend's suggestion.
- watching business podcasts helped me gain insight into successful people's mind.

Foster innovation

create an environment where new ideas can develop.

- Google gives employees 20% of their time to work on personal projects to foster innovation.

Bone of contention

A subject or issue that people argue or disagree about.

- the budget was a major bone of contention between the government and opposition.
- his decision to move abroad become a bone of contention in the family.
- Parking spaces are always a bone of contention in any apartment building.
- Money matters are often the biggest bone of contention in relationships.

Point of no return

To reach a stage in a situation where there is no going back.

- Quitting my job was the point of no return —I had to start my own business.

Window of opportunity

a short period of time when you have chance to do something important.

- I had a small window of opportunity to apply for the scholarship.
- She used the window of opportunity to pitch her ideas to the boss.

Burst of energy

A sudden and temporary increase in strength

- I had a sudden burst of energy and cleaned the whole house.
- After my coffee, I got a burst of energy and finished the project.
- The kids had a burst of energy after their nap.
- He use to last burst of energy to finish his race.

Movement of reckoning

it's time to face the truth.

- the movement of reckoning came when he opened the exam result.

Resplendent

(Taaban), درخشان (Darakhshan), روشن (Roshun), or نورانی (Noorani). These words all convey the idea of shining brightly